I think yes, Because it can influence you by to write a book or do something like be athlete or go to space or to become something you like. My first one is that it can influence children to become a writer to write something like write a novel . Second one is that it can influence you to do something to build a house or a robot. My last one is that you can become something you want to be to be a princess or president. First one, that you can become a writer if a book influence you to write a funny book or action book. It can influence you writing a book for kid in some countries that have no money .
